

A decade in Babeland

Posted By: Amanda Farrell-Low
12/09/2009 8:00 AM

It's hard to believe it's been 10 years since Victoria vocal divas the Balkan Babes first raised their voice in song, but the M Award-winning choral group is indeed celebrating a decade of bringing the a capella tunes of eastern Europe to life—and they're doing it in style.

Having just wrapped up a tour that included Salt Spring and Pender Islands, as well as their first-ever house concert in the Cowichan Valley, Balkan Babe Carolyn Masson says the ladies want to bring the house concert vibe to downtown Victoria with a show at Base Lounge.

"It's a wood-floored yoga studio with great acoustics, so it's going to be an intimate evening," says Masson, adding that the Babes will do two sets and DJ Rowan will keep the party going with some world music.

The show starts at 7:30 p.m. Saturday at Base Lounge, located at 1303 Broad. Tickets are $20 (advance only) at Base Lounge or online at baselounge.ca.

Monday Magazine

9 December 2009